

D. J. C. A. D. - R. 2
1 2 2

The free expression of the will of the people – The popular will, freely expressed through genuine elections, must be the basis for legitimate political power.

and be held at reasonable intervals, in a context that protects other fundamental rights.

State must take necessary steps to ensure free and fair elections – States must take the steps necessary, in law and practice, to give effect to these principles.

States must also ensure that the will of the people is expressed through a process that is free, fair, and transparent. This includes ensuring that the electoral process is accessible to all citizens, that the results are accurately counted and reported, and that the process is free from manipulation and fraud. States must also ensure that the electoral process is held in a context that respects the rights of all citizens, including the right to free expression and the right to participate in public affairs.

Every citizen has the right to vote – Every citizen has the right to vote, and the right to have their vote counted.

States must ensure that the right to vote is exercised in a free and fair environment, and that the results are accurately counted and reported.

States must also ensure that the right to vote is exercised in a context that respects the rights of all citizens, including the right to free expression and the right to participate in public affairs.

States must also ensure that the right to vote is exercised in a context that respects the rights of all citizens, including the right to free expression and the right to participate in public affairs.

States must also ensure that the right to vote is exercised in a context that respects the rights of all citizens, including the right to free expression and the right to participate in public affairs.

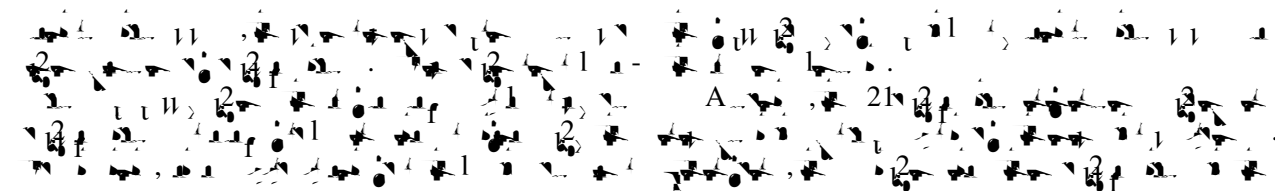

States must also ensure that the right to vote is exercised in a context that respects the rights of all citizens, including the right to free expression and the right to participate in public affairs.

States must also ensure that the right to vote is exercised in a context that respects the rights of all citizens, including the right to free expression and the right to participate in public affairs.

States must also ensure that the right to vote is exercised in a context that respects the rights of all citizens, including the right to free expression and the right to participate in public affairs.

States must also ensure that the right to vote is exercised in a context that respects the rights of all citizens, including the right to free expression and the right to participate in public affairs.

States must also ensure that the right to vote is exercised in a context that respects the rights of all citizens, including the right to free expression and the right to participate in public affairs.

1 2 3 4 A

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA AND METHODOLOG

B C O2

A page of musical notation consisting of five staves. The notation includes various notes, rests, and dynamic markings such as 'p' and 'f'. The first staff has a '1' above it, the second has a '2', and the fifth has a '4'. There are also some symbols that look like 'R' and 'f'.